

My community's littering problem

Many communities tend to have problem like pollution, child abuse, and more. Many are unsure how they should solve their problems. Even though it's hard it is possible to fix the problem. Today I will be talking about my community's problem and how they could fix it. Now follow me as we read on about my community's problem and the solution to it.

My community's problem has to do with littering and trash problems. I always see many cars passing by and much trash everywhere on the grass, roads, and overflowing streets. So much trash is being thrown everywhere and being left there. This is not good for our community and the planets. Examples are turtles can choke on straws, fishes stuck inside a can, and animals losing their home or food supply as they have to be used for trash disposal.

A way for my community to stop this from happening is recycling. Recycling means you can reuse items over and over again. This means we can use items again without trashing it everywhere and without destroying habitats and terrorizing the ocean animals and believe me it is way better than just throwing it and destroying homes. Could you just imagine how the animals feel about losing their homes. We do it because we don't wanna recycle and leave our trash everywhere and even inside their homes?

If we recycle and pick up all our trash this will prevent the destruction of homes and also help our world thrive. It would also make our community cleaner and healthier. Keeping the streets clean and up to date. It will save many animals from losing their habitats. It is important we don't litter and keep trying our best to recycle to save the world.

In Conclusion, we should recycle even if we don't want to. We should prevent littering and promote recycling to save our world. You may wonder why we should be doing this? Why is it important to save the animals and the world. Because we would be struggling to survive especially in a world only full of trash and only trash. So it is always important to recycle and clean up after ourselves to help the world survive and prosper while having a good time in our clean and happy planet Earth.
